

A close-up, vertical view of the back of a watch case. The case back is made of a light-colored metal with a circular technical scale. The scale has markings for 200, 250, 300, and 400, with smaller increments in between. Two cylindrical pushers are visible on the right side of the case back. The word "Watches" is overlaid in large white text across the center of the image.
